

Skills

Level 7: The modern HUMAN BEING in us – to be imperfect means to be able to grow. This supports us in searching for our own unique purpose in life and strengthens our social skills and capacity for empathy.

From a position of personal balance, we now recognise our own wishes and hopes and discover that we are part of a whole at the same time.

How to perform the exercise

Use both sides of the optical instrument and allow your eyes to perceive details in the distance and up close again and again. The alternating view of the world from a close-up to a broad perspective sharpens our eyesight and allows us to gain an insight into background and detailed views.
